ROOSEVELT VICTOR.

Wins by Overwhelming Majorities All Along the Line.

TIDAL WAVE IN NEW YORK.

Democrats Go Out of Greater New York With Not Over Forty Thousand Plurality and Are Met With an Avalanche of Opposition Up-State.

ROOSEVELT'S ELECTORAL VOTE

Will Reach Probably Three Hundred and Twenty—Democratic Chairman Taggart Gave Up Indiana and the Fight Early in the Evening.

Elections bulletins from all over the United States show unprecedented Republican majorities in all the states counted as certain for the Roosevelt coulmn, the capture of doubtful states and the cutting down of Democratic figures in the solid South and other erstwhile Democratic states. A conservative estimate gives Roosevelt 325 electoral votes.

Reports from all the states indicate that the Republicans will have a working majority in congress of 64, and the 59th congress will therefore be in full sympathy with the president

SOME REPUBLICAN PLURALITIES.

Democrats Reverse the National Ticket Vote in Several States.

New York, Nov. 8—Republican pluralities received from different states as follows: Connecticut 25,000, Indiana 40,000, Iowa 125,000, Nevada about 10,000, Pennsylvania 325,000, Delaware 3,000, Massachusetts 90,000, Connecticut 25,000,

Democratic Governors Elected.

While on the national ticket the Democrats have suffered a crushing defeat, they have retrieved themselves on some state tickets. They have reversed the national vote by electing governors in Massachusetts, Minnesota and probably in Colorado.

The Republican national ticket is elected by a vote in the electoral college that will exceed that of 292 given McKinley in 1900. The result is astonishing even to the most sanguine Republican managers. The Democratic success is confined to the solid South, in which Kentucky is included. Parker has not carried a single state which did not give its electoral vote to Bryan four years ago.

Latest returns show that there were cast for Roosevelt in New York state about 185,000 more votes than for Parker. In greater New York Parker's plurality is from 12,000 to 14,000 larger than Bryan's, but in the state according to late reports his total vote fell 16,000 short of that cast for Bryan. Higgins and his associates on the state ticket are elected by over 100,000 plurality.

ROOSEVELT AND HIGGINS.

Republican State and National Tickets Sweep New York.

New York, Nov. 8—Roosevelt swept New York state in a very avalanche of victory, his majority being estimated anywhere between 185,000 and 200,000 in the state. Parker went out of Greater New York with scarcely 40,000 majority and was met by overwhelming opposition throughout the state at large. Roosevelt captured Parker's own precinct by a plurality of 14. Rochester gave Roosevelt 7,,000 plurality. The Sun says that Roosevelt will greatly exceed McKinley's majority.

Higgins, Republican candidate for governor, ran much behind the national ticket but is safely elected by many thousands of votes over Herrick. Early in the evening The World and other leading Democratic organs conceded an overwhelming Republican victory in the State.

Not a Candidate Again.

Washington, Nov. 8—The President, upon receipt of the news that he was surely elected by an overwhelming majority, announced that he would not be a candidate for another term after he had filled the four years following this election. "I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in me, and their appreciation of what I have tried to do and have done. I appreciate to the fullest extent the responsibility of the office and shall do all in my power to serve the best interests of the people."

Chairman Taggart Quits Early.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8—Chairman Taggart of the Democratic National committee, early conceded the election of Roosevelt by overwhelming figures all along the line, and telegraphed congratulations to Chairman Cortelyou. Taggart estimates Indiana to go 21,000 majority for Roosevelt. Other reports give the figures as 30,000.

This State's Big Vote.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9, 3 a. m.—The indications are that Pennsylvania has rolled up at least 325,000 plurality for Roosevelt, while other estimates put it even higher than 360,000. McKinley's plurality four years ago was 288,433.

Delaware is Close.

Wilmington, Nov. 8—The Republicans claim Delaware for Roosevelt by a small majority, but concede a Democratic governor.

New Jersey on the Big Side.

Trenton, Nov. 8—The Republicans claim New Jersey gives 70,000 majority for Roosevelt, and 30,000 for Stokes for governor. Nine out of ten congressmen elected are Republican, and six out of seven senators.

Outdistanced McKinley.

Boston, Nov. 8—Fifty-five towns in Massachusetts show Roosevelt running ahead of McKinley's vote, and Parker behind that of Bryan of four years ago. Sixty-nine towns give to Roosevelt 12,000 majority.

West Virginia Republican.

Charleston, Nov. 8—West Virginia is claimed by the Republicans for Roosevelt by 25,000.

Illinois O. K. as Usual.

Chicago, Nov. 8—Roosevelt carried Illinois by 20,000 plurality.

ADJOURNED FOR THE YEAR.

Village Improvement Holds no Regular Meetings Until April.

The last meeting of the Village Improvement society for the year was held at the court house Monday afternoon and at the conclusion of the meeting adjournment was taken until the first Monday in April. Several of the committees made their reports and the street committee, which has been very active, gave an excellent account of work done. Mrs. Ridgeway, the chairman, thanked the people of Towanda for their words of encouragement and also the newspapers, the town council, Commissioner Bentley and Chief Miller.

The tree committee will continue their work for some time yet. Excellent progress has been made by this committee and in addition to the trees to be set out by this committee, several citizens have ordered trees from the committee. The Civics club is active and an entertainment will be given soon.

NOTES OF GRANGES.

Items of Interest Contributed by Editor A. T. Lilley.

WOMAN'S PART IN GRANGE.

Female Sex Holds Many Offices of Trust in County, and State Granges—Mr. Lilley Writes of Inspection of Various Local Granges.

(All communications to this column should be addressed to A. T. Lilley, LeRoy, Pa.)

Nine of the 25 granges in Bradford county have lady secretaries.

A thoughtful master will see that all committees are composed of brothers and sisters, giving the majority to the sex most interested in the work to be done.

The master who fails in the appointment of committees loses his power as a successful master and this is true in any organization.

In New Hampshire 25 women are masters of granges, 175 are secretaries and 208 are lecturers. In eleven granges all of the officers are women.

A wise selection of officers and committees will be apparent when all political parties are justly represented. It does away with the slightest appearance of partizanship.

Within a short time past it has been a pleasure to inspect granges as follows: Beech Flats whose degree team gave a fine exhibition of its rendering of the first and fourth degrees. R. U. Fitzwater, master of the grange, and Raymond Wright of the degree team, are doing their part for the upbuilding of the grange in their locality and they have the assistance of goodly numbers of patrons. Troy Grange shows up above all others in the county by having 214 members under the charge of a young master, John Coney, who is striving to improve all within the gates. Sure, the membership represents more wealth than any other grange in the county and is located where there is an opportunity to add many more to its numbers. Among the pioneers present were Mrs. Azor Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jewell and John Hunt.

Towanda Valley grange still shows the result of the spirited contest of last Spring. A large number of young people under the guardianship of L. C. Burroughs are ready and willing to receive instruction in the ways of agricultural life. They have been taught how to plant and sow and are looking for the reward.

Wilmot grange, could not, if it would, be anything but alive while under the direction of George Teeter who is persistent in doing all that he can for the interests of the patrons of Wilmot. The young people are doing finely.

Spring Hill grange has just settled down in its improved hall, prepared to accommodate its increased membership, the juvenile grange and dining rooms. N. D. Snyder is serving his second term as master and feels proud of his faithful members who have worked so well under his leadership as master of Spring Hill grange team. Surely, a juvenile grange, a fine commodious hall, a membership of 118, a fine degree team and still bright prospects ahead is worthy of "well done" for a two years old grange. The third degree work was fine.

Standing Stone grange is composed of old and young and the way they took hold of the degree work shows a willingness to gain all that the grange stands for. Worthy Master Stalford enjoyed the drills given for the benefit of those present. This grange is young and is gaining rapidly.

Wysauking is the oldest grange in the county, being the home of some of the pioneer grange workers. The Piollets, Morgans and Owens are remembered by all veteran patrons. Worthy Master Drake has the assistance of a strong band of sisters who strive to have everything in the grange room neat and tasty. It has Hon. Louis Piollet, one of the state grange officials to aid. We note in the roll book the names of Hon. F. N. Moore, Hon. E. J. Ayers, Captain G. W. Kilmer and Major Levi Wells.

Keystone grange, near Minnequa, is well officered with J. W. Ketcham as master, C. B. Taylor as lecturer and Mrs. Frances K. Granteer as secretary. About one half dozen old school teachers and a past deputy were present. So it was not surprising to find a better understanding of the esoteric work than elsewhere. A larger average of attendance would be a strong aid to the faithful ones.

Iona grange in the extreme southern part of Burlington township meets in a dwelling house that is not suited for grange work as it is not convenient or comfortable. Yet we are glad to know that some of the membership are striving to make a pull for a new hall. With such members as Brothers Stevens, Rubert, Selleck, Cole Jennings, Dodge, Mosier, Lyons, Spencer and others the task would be rendered easy.

State Lecturer A. M. Cornell writes that three new granges have been organized in Pennsylvania since the first of October, that the juvenile grange is proving a helping factor Columbia grange and that Pennsylvania is near taking the lead in state increase in the order in the United States. A strong pull and a pull together will put Pennsylvania at the head.

The Patrons of Tioga county have been active during the past month as noted by a feast at Valley grange with 21 visitors from Wellsboro grange; conferrng third and fourth degrees at Wellsboro. The grange at Tioga brought the Pickering building for a grange hall and Mitchell's grange had a leap year special and have just received the instruments for a brass band composed of its own members.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN SENATORIAL CONTEST.

Sketch of theEvents in the Battle For the Honor.

Great interest lay in the struggle between Hon. R. S. Edmiston, the present Republican state senator for re-election, against George W. Kipp of Towanda, the Democratic candidate from the Twenty-third district. Mr. Edmiston received the nomination from Bradford county, winning from Bradley W. Lewis, Esq., of Tunkhannock, who registered in this county. Mr. Lewis was then nominated by the Republicans of Wyoming county and after several fruitless meetings of the conferees of the two men it was decided to leave the question of who was entitled to the nomination of the district to an umpire. The umpire decided in favor of Mr. Edmiston.

Democrats Choose Kipp.

Before this question was settled it was supposed that Mr. Edmiston and Mr. Lewis would both go on the ticket on nomination papers and the Democrats of the district saw the possibility of a three-cornered fight in which the two Republican candidates would split the Republican vote and the Democratic candidate would be elected. George W. Kipp, president of the First National bank of Towanda, was nominated by the Democrats of Bradford county at their convention held at this place. Later he was made the choice of the district, the Wyoming Democratic conferees voting for him after a number of ballots.

Since the contest has settled down to a straight fight between the one Republican and the one Democratic candidate it has developed most astonishing activity. Mr. Edmiston has been plainly worried over the situation and the activity of the thorough canvass made by Mr. Kipp and his friends in this and Wyoming county has been met by hard work on the part of Mr. Edmiston and his colleagues, both through personal work and on the political platform where the coming United States senatorship and the loss of a vote in the state senate has been urged upon Republican voters who might be thinking of voting for Mr. Kipp. The returns show how close and exciting was the contest.

Vote Four Years Ago.

A consideration of the vote in this and Wyoming counties are that the vote will be very close. It may be but a few ballots that will swing the result either to Mr. Edmiston or Mr. Kipp. A consideration of the vote in the Bradford-Wyoming district four years ago when Mr. Edmiston and H. F. Maynard, Esq., of Athens were the opposing candidates is interesting. At that time Mr. Edmiston carried the district by about 1,500 votes. The vote in Bradford county was Edmiston 6,852, and Maynard, 4,118 or a plurality of 2,734 in Bradford county for Edmiston. Maynard carried Wyoming county by a purality of 1,229, the vote being Maynard 1,970 and Edmiston, 741. Bradford rolled up a plurality of 4,414 for McKinley four years ago, the vote being 8,625 for him and 4,211 for Byran. Wyoming gave McKinley a plurality of 372, the vote being McKinley 2,247 and Byran 1,875.

This Publicity Paid.

Conspicuous success has attended the advertising of the new Sovereign Bank of Canada, in Montreal. According to the Star of that city, the institution was established a little more than two years ago. Advertising was used from the start, and in six months the deposits grew to $1,600,000. At the end of two years they were $5,000,000, and at the last statement they were $6,300,000. The advertising was addressed entirely to small savings depositors and has been educational in tenor.

Vote Not as Heavy as It Was Expected to Be.

RECEIVING THE RETURNS.

Lots of Fun on the Streets at Night. Splitting of Tickets Made Counting of Ballots Unusually Late—Vote for Candidates by Wards.

The vote by wards in Towanda appears below. It was about 12:30 when the First ward was counted off, the other wards being much behind in their counting. The Second ward were through at 4 a. m. The splitting of the ticket made this the case. In the First ward there were but 28 straight Republican tickets and 38 Democratic tickets.

Edmiston Reelected State Senator.

Hon. Robert S. Edmiston had the closest shave of any candidate on the Republican ticket. Pitted against him was George W. Kipp, nominated by the Democrats, and one of the stiffest fights in the history of the Bradford-Wyoming district was put up. On Tuesday evening the result was undetermined by the returns, friends of both candidates claiming the victory.

Reports received yesterday were almost from the beginning encouraging for the Republicans, and late in the forenoon the Democrats conceded the election of Mr. Edmiston, thus assuring one more vote for United States Senator Knox when he comes before the legislature in January for an election.

The latest information obtainable yesterday afternoon was that Mr. Kipp had carried Wyoming county by about 321 plurality, while Mr. Edmiston won out in Bradford county by about 875. This gives Senator Edmiston a plurality in the district of about 554. It was a close shave, but did the business.

Mial E. Lilley, Esq., will run somewhat behind the head of the ticket, for congressman. Hoyt, Pendleton and Morse, Republicans, are winners for representatives. Milis, Republican, will win for district attorney, although Smith polled a fine vote in many of the districts heard from. Bull, Republican, is elected county surveyor.

Sullivan-Wyoming Judgeship.

In the Sullivan-Wyoming judicial district, Hon. E. M. Dunham is defeated for reelection, Charles E. Terry, Esq., of Tunkhannock, the Democratic candidate being elected. Wyoming county gave Mr. Terry a plurality of 800, and Sullivan county went for Judge Dunham by about 170.

Receiving the Returns.

Receiving election news was the interesting event Tuesday night as it always is although the enlarged use of house telephones kept many from attending the various places where special reports were received. The office of Lilley & Wilson was crowded and another lot of newseekers made the water company's offices their headquarters, especially for news of the senatorial contest. The vote in Towanda was not as large as was expected.

The coming voters were out in full force and did some great cheering for their favorite candidates. Several bon fires were started on Main street and the night police were kept busy trying to control the youngsters who were heaping drygoods boxes and oil on the flames. Some one tapped the fire bell but it was a false alarm and the department didn't respond.

New York state returns were the first to come in and were received with great interest. After this there was a lull for some time. Many of the dispatches came in in such a shape that it required a political expert to properly interpret them. The returns from around the county, as was expected, were slow in coming in, the heavy splitting and trading in many districts making the work of tabulating the votes a long and tedious task for the election officers.

TWO WOMEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM INJURY.

Were Riding on Lumber Cars When Engine Tipped Over.

Mrs. Charles Camp of Weston and Mrs. George Stranger of Powell visited Mr. and Mrs. Will Camp at Sones mills last week. The ladies enjoyed their trip but had a narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps death. The mills are located some two or three miles from Eaglesmere. On their return home the ladies thought to save the walk by riding out to Eaglesmere on the lumber cars.

They were riding on the second car from the engine which tipped completely over on its side of the track. Luckily the loaded cars did not leave the track. The engineer, Joseph Wells, and his fireman, Shirsey Taylor, jumped from the engine in time to escape from the steam and so escaped other and perhaps fatal injuries. The ladies jumped from the cars and aside from a general shaking up were able to walk out to Eaglesmere.

Mrs. Vroman is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Daniel Innes, Mrs. Theodore Manley and Mrs. Frank Bunyan, and one son, Ritner Vroman. Funeral services were held on Saturday with interment at Granville Centre.

George Ross was called to Troy last Saturday by the death of his brother.

A Sure Thing.

It is said that nothing is sure except death and taxes, but that is not altogether true. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption is a sure cure for all lung and throat troubles. Thousands can testify to that. Mrs. C. B. VanMetre of Shepherdtown, W. Va., says "I had a severe case of Bronchitis and for a year tried everything I heard of, but got no relief. One bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery then cured me absolutely." It's infallible for Croup, Whooping Cough, Grip, Pneumonia and Consumption. Try it. It's guaranteed by Turner the druggist. Trial bottles free, Regular size 50c, $1.00.

This country badly needs a pure food law and a divorce law national in their scope and operation.

The corn husking record for ten hours' work is now at 201 bushels, so that the 100 bushel fellow is only half a hand anyway.

Rape sown in the fields of sweet corn grown for the canneries is a great success, as the crop is removed early in the season, and a tremendous growth of rape results.

The beef producers of the corn belt have come to the conclusion that they cannot profitably raise their own feeders on land worth $100 per acre. These feeders must be grassed to finishing age in some locality where land is cheaper.

The best and most productive and profitable orchards are the cultivated ones east, west, north and south. Cultivation is the best substitute for the leaf mulch, which is nature's method of insuring a healthful, vigorous tree growth.

The Mexican boll weevil while seriously injuring the cotton crop of 1904 has still permitted a crop worth $450,000,000 to be secured. As this is a cash drop and confined to only a few states of the south a large measure of financial prosperity is in sight.

There is no question about the fertility of the soil in western Canada and the wonderful yield of the crops and their excellent quality. The only drawback to locating there is that a fellow has to say "God save the king" when he tumbles out of bed in the morning and has no Fourth of July.

In the pioneer days October smoke meant prairie fires, the terror of the early settler. Today there is still smoke in October, but it is the smoke of the engines thrashing out the big crops of grain and of the locomotives busy hauling the grain to market.

We notice that the president is the recipient each year of a thirty-seven pound turkey for Thanksgiving, sent by some man in New England. If his excellency has cut his eyeteeth he will let the members of his cabinet work on this tough old tom, while he and Mrs. President will return thanks over a nice little ten pound hen turkey.

The addition to the corn crop of Nebraska of just one bushel per acre would add $2,500,000 to the agricultural wealth of the state. In Iowa it would add $3,000,000. Surely here is a great field for agricultural missionary work. In both states some corn is yielding eighty bushels to the acre, but more acres are giving but twenty bushels.

We hear a good deal in praise of the forehanded man, but for every one of him there are six fellows who are always behindhand. This behindhand chap is always in a peck of trouble, has his farm and stock and crops mortgaged, runs a bill at the grocery store, moves his barns to get shut of the manure piles, burns his straw, keeps two or more dogs, gets small cream checks, lets his wife cut the firewood to get his meals with, tells big yarns of what he did down in "Wisconse" and absolutely knows just how the government should be run. When he has a good crop prices are low, and when prices are high his crop is a failure, and between loafing, whittling and cussing the administration he manages to keep middling busy most of the time. He has a consuming jealousy of his forehanded neighbor and cannot be made to understand that his bad luck and ever present hard times are the result pure and simple of his own laziness and shiftlessness. He sows and reaps and kicks at the harvest of his own folly.

Skim milk and cornmeal make an admirably balanced ration for the young calf and may be used by the housewife in pleasing the palatable combination in the daily household bill of fare as an equally well balanced combination for growing boys and girls as well as the old man. Corn is peculiar in this—that no plug cook can successfully handle it. It takes the expert and well trained cook to draw out its delightful gastronomic possibilities. There are a hundred ways to prepare the most dainty and nutritious dishes from it. What nicer than a golden brown johnnycake, a bowl of puddin' and milk, an injun puddin' stuffed full of fat raisins, injun bread, rye and injun corn fritters, corn pantakes, hulled corn, samp and all the rest? The corn kids always have red rosy cheeks, while the corn fed maid always has the choice of a half dozen beaus. The country needs evangelists to travel up and down and preach the gospel of corn, its scientific culture, its beneficent and multifold uses. The corn fed steed and the corn fed pig represent the very highest types in their lines, and the corn fed man will beat the steer or the hog. Talk corn, eat corn. Get a corn cookbook for your wife. Rob the pigs and calves and work more skim milk and corn into the children. Use corn this year to save money. On this diet you will not need a patent medicine dope or an operation for appendicitis. Eat corn and be happy.

SOME AVOIDABLE FARM WASTES.

There are many avoidable farm wastes. Here are a few: The use of a manure spreader to put the barn fertilizers on to the fields as soon as made will prevent the waste associated with the fermenting and leaching of the most valuable asset of the farm and will add many bushels and dollars to the farm income. A hundred dollars spent in tile drainage of wet spots will convert worthless tracts into the most productive acres of the farm. The spring disking of a hidebound pasture and a scattering of clover seed will double its feeding capacity for two years. The laying out of headlands around all tillable fields will give a valuable crop of grass in place of a fence row lined with weeds and improve the appearance of the farm 100 per cent. Fewer acres of corn put in the silo will increase the feeding value of each acre of corn grown 25 per cent. The wage of a hired man may be saved by simply promptly stacking the small grain instead of waiting your turn to thrash out of the shock. Sixty cents' worth of clover seed sown on each acre of small grain will return 500 per cent on its cost if it is simply plowed under the following May for a corn crop. Poor seed corn costs all of our corn growing states millions of dollars each year. Dry pastures in August play hob with cream checks. Sweet corn or silage will stop this leak. From two to five tons of good hay are lost each year by neglect to utilize the highways around the farm. A fence of barbed wire, while seemingly the cheapest fence to build, is still the most expensive one for the horse pasture. The poultry should pay the grocery bills and the taxes. If it does not it should be made to. The extra dollar a month paid the hired man will be worth $4 a month to his employer every month he works. If the cultivated hillside washes badly, quit plowing it and get it into grass or timber. Close pasturing of the timothy meadow in spring means a slim crop of hay in July. A cemented and whitewashed cellar may mean the saving of a doctor's and undertaker's bill which would fix a dozen cellars. Let your wife buy the clothing for the family. She knows more than you and can make a dollar go further than George Washington did. A farm telephone will save its cost on the sale of one lot of hogs or grain. It is easier to raise 750 bushels of corn on ten acres than on twenty, which is the hardest of all things to make men believe. One-fifth of all hay stacked in the field is wasted. Stack covers and big stacks would stop this.

THE ONE THING LACKING.

While quite a large variety of products may be raised on the average farm, it is still true that it is often difficult to make from them a well balanced ration for the stock. There are an excess of fat forming elements and a shortage of the flesh, blood and muscle forming ones—too much of the carbohydrates and not enough protein. There is no other crop which, if it can be grown, will so well supply this deficiency as alfalfa, which is the richest in protein content of any forage plant possible of general cultivation throughout the northern country. Ten tons of alfalfa hay in the barn and five acres of alfalfa hog pasture would furnish the one thing lacking on every farm in the corn belt. No experiment is so well worth making as this of finding out whether or not it can be grown on your farm.

We struck a couple of preachers recently, one from Connecticut and one from Minnesota. They were genuine disciples of old Peter, for they both loved to fish. No two lay brothers, old sinners of the common sort, whom we ever met could tell fishing yarns to beat these two old saints, and as we listened to them we were more than ever convinced that fish stories can't be lies. They told other yarns. The eastern parson has an orange grove in Florida. There they have to use commercial fertilizers in order to get a crop of fruit. He said that a colored man to whom was intrusted the job of putting some fertilizer around a grape fruit tree by mistake put a pailful instead of a pint of sulphate of potash around the tree. This parson with a perfectly grave face said that the next year this tree produced thirty-three boxes of grape fruit, which sold for $4 a box, and the next year twenty-nine boxes, and then the tree died. One hundred and thirty-two dollars for the crop of fruit from one tree in one season breaks the record. The Minnesota brother looked tired after this.

Queer, is it not? A woman will gladly go to the home of a neighbor and do any kind of menial work for sweet charity's sake and run not the least risk of damaging her social position, but when her neighbor is well and the same work is done for hire society throws a fit, and the worker is at once tabooed.

In Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin it is being demonstrated that the best time to sow alfalfa is in the early fall—in August, say. The plant then is exempt from its fight with the weeds and attains sufficient growth to enable it to go through the winter in good shape, insuring two or more crops from it the next year.

New Britain, Conn., was not so many years ago a little country village without natural resources of any sort. Today it is a modern American city and manufactures brass and other like goods to the value of $15,000,000 a year. It takes the work of a lot of western farmers to feed its 36,000 people, for not even white beans will grow there.

Early picked corn has a way of heating and steaming which is very exasperating. It is better to pick corn with cold fingers than to have it do this.

The catalpa post should be cut during the month of August and be thoroughly seasoned before being used. The same treatment will insure the longer life of any timber used for this purpose.

WHEN TO SELL.

It is one thing to raise a crop and another to know just when and where to market it. A pretty good rule to follow is this: When such crops as may be kept on the farm without serious loss are selling below the cost of production, hang on to them or convert them into some more profitable kind of farm produce. Perishable crops are best sold for whatever they will bring when ready for market. Fatted stock of all kinds is kept at a dead loss every day after it is finished. Potatoes are better sold in the field in October at 25 cents than held for a spring market at 45 cents. Hay sold in the field at $5 per ton is better sold than when taken out of the barn the next spring at $7.50, for you sell a lot of water when you sell in the field. Every crop grown on the farm will touch high water prices about once in ten years. Interest, rateage and insurance will usually eat up the difference between such high prices and a fair price obtainable when the crop is secured. The bushel of corn worth 40 cents will usually bring 60 cents or more when marketed in the shape of meats or dairy products. The seller of raw material, such as hay or cereals, loses the manufacturer's profit. As a general proposition, it is best to sell farm produce when it is ready and brings even a small profit. The average farmer cannot afford to speculate.

HAS WON THE BATTLE.

Man has fought out his century long battle with the forests of the United States and won. That which it took nature thousands of years to produce he has wiped out in ten decades. The bared and sterile hills, the periodic floods, the ruined water powers, the parching droughts, the shrunken streams, the untimely frosts, are nature's pitiful protest against the war of the vandals on the woods. With an ax in one hand and a match in the other, man has made a clean sweep, leaving for the coming generation the tremendous problem of reforesting at least portions of the country for its own agricultural and economic salvation.

Blue grass pastures are greatly benefited by a good disking and dragging in the early spring. The more they are torn up the ranker the growth of grass will be. It is impossible to hurt this grass by this sort of treatment. It is always helped.

A man wished to furnish a new house from cellar to garret, and this is what he did: He got the best bid from a Chicago house. He then went to the furniture man in his own town and asked the home dealer if he could match the Chicago bid and to his surprise found the home man glad to do it. Whoever you are and touching whatever you want, the plan pursued is the fair and patriotic thing to do with your home man.

We have noticed many fields of the early maturing varieties of potato so overgrown with a mass of weeds that before they could be harvested the mower had to be used and the weeds removed and burned. A better way would be to have sown some buckwheat at the time of the last cultivation of the crop, which would have fixed the weeds, furnished some cake timber and made the digging of the potato crop a pleasure.

Some day the railway corporations will improve the looks of their rights of way all through the country. The surface of the soil will be leveled and be sown to grass, which will be mowed and the right of way kept neat and clean; the depot grounds will be made attractive with shrubs, flowers and grass, and belts of timber will take the place of the hideous snow fences. Some roads have already made a good commencement along these lines, and the traveling public greatly appreciates their enterprise.

The country parson working on a small salary should always combine a little agriculture with his theology. A man can work out a mighty good sermon when he is plowing corn or hoeing potatoes. We had rather have the crops than Deuteronomy for religious inspiration; then if rightly worked the product of five acres well tilled will enable the parson to wear a plug hat and a Prince Albert coat for his Sunday duties. The only drawback to this plan is that there are some communities so mighty mean that if he makes a little money on the side the next annual meeting of the church will cut his salary down, for there are all too many otherwise pretty good people who seem to think that poverty, piety and parsons are a foreordained combination and want to keep their preacher largely as a civilized object of charity. Plenty of rich farmers expect to go to heaven on the strength of paying the preacher $5 a year and a yearly donation of a couple of old roosters, a sack of potatoes or a big squash.

MAY—COLWELL.

Pretty Wedding Celebrated at Ridgebury Last Week.

A quiet home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Colwell in Ridgebury, on Nov. 2, at 6:30 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Jennie, was united in marriage to Jefferson E. May, Rev. Seymour Barrett officiating. About 50 friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

To the strains of the wedding march rendered by Miss Kathryn Gibbs, the bridal pair and their attendants took their places under an arch of evergreens and chrysanthemums. Miss Kathryn Colwell, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Frank Colwell, the bride's brother, was best man. The flower girls were Ethel Ayers and Edna Colwell. The bride was prettily dressed in blue with an overdress of white; the bridesmaid wore pink with a white overdress, and both carried lovely bouquets.

After congratulations, refreshments were served. The dining room and tables were tastefully decorated with flowers and autumn foliage, which were very pretty. The happy pair were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. Amid a shower of rice the young couple left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends in Catlin, N. Y., after Dec. 15.

OUR OWN GEORGE.

Towanda Colored Man Arrested at Owego for Vagrancy.

Monday forenoon George Carter, a former well-known Towanda colored man, was arrested by Chief of Police William Robinson upon the technical charge of being a vagrant and tramp. Earlier in the day the Chief had received a message from the Chief of Police at Troy, that Carter was wanted at that village for burglary, and asking that he be apprehended and held. It was stated that he had broken into a barber shop at Troy and had stolen $90 worth of barbers' supplies.

It was further said that at Elmira $60 worth of the stuff had been sold by him. When he was searched a quantity of barbers' tools was found upon him, which he accounted for by saying he had purchased part of them of Hiram Johnson, of Owego, and that part of the goods had been given him by a friend. He was committed till the matter could be looked up, and the Troy authorities were notified of his arrest.

NOVEMBER COUNCIL MEETING.

Many Matters Talked of at the Regular Monthly Session.

Council met in regular monthly session Monday night with all its members present. A petition for an incandescent light on Bridge street was granted and it will be placed near the bridge over the railroad tracks. It was reported that the poles for the long deferred light on Grant street were up. The matter of the objection of citizens to the improvements on Pine street in regard to fences, etc., was brought up, and after discussion it was decided to place all fences on the proper line.

Joseph Kirwin of Plank Road street, asked for relief from damages suffered by him from floods. Council voted to rebuild the bridge at that point and fix the creek from the Maynard building to the bridge. Council also voted to repair the fire tower which is not in good condition. I. McPherson, Esq., called attention to the bad condition of the street on North Fourth street between Bridge and Elizabeth, and council will give this attention.

The committee having in charge the new Hawes hose house was instructed to secure plans at once and it is probable that a special meeting will be called to settle upon the cost and specifications of the building. The council is anxious to give the company proper quarters just as soon as possible. The walk along Riverside cemetery will be taken up and for the present, at least, a walk of crushed stone will be placed there.

Burgess Pratt's police report showed the arrest of only seven persons during October, an unusually light month. Stone will be purchased for the crusher at 35 cents per ton from those who have it to haul to the crusher. Bills as approved by the finance committee were ordered paid as follows:

Streets	$1751.93
Lights	233.25
Police	203 50
Insurance	15.00
Miscellaneous	71.14
Fire Department	128.00

The meeting adjourned at 9:30.

Indians and Cowards.

John Bradbury, who explored part of the Missouri river country in the early decades of the last century, tells of a unique Indian method of dealing with cowardice. The story is retold in the Early Western Travels Series, edited by R. G. Thwaites. Bradbury says: "In our walk we observed what on the first view appeared to be two squaws. I remarked that one of them had more the appearance of a man than a woman. I was then informed that it was a man and that there were several others in the village who, like the one we saw, were condemned for life to associate with the squaws, to wear the same dress and do the same drudgery. I now learned that when the Osages go to war they keep a watchful eye over the young men who are taking their first essay in arms, and such as appear to possess the necessary qualifications are admitted to the rank of warriors. But if any exhibit proofs of cowardice, on the return of the party they are compelled to assume the dress and character of women, and their doom is fixed for life and no opportunity afforded them to retrieve their character."

The Mirror Galvanometer.

Some interesting tales are told of Lord Kelvin's discoveries and how the ideas of them came to his quick mind. For instance, this is said to have been the way in which he found the mirror galvanometer. He was puzzling over the difficulty of perfecting the ordinary telegraphic apparatus used on overhead wires, which was not suited for the varying current passing along cables. The lagging of the electric currents had the effect of making them run together into one bottom current, with surface ripples which correspond to the separate signals of the message. The problem was how to invent a means of interpreting clearly and easily all the delicate fluctuations. One day Lord Kelvin's eyeglass fell off and swung in front of the magnet, reflecting its movements, and instantly the idea of the mirror suggested itself. So a monocle has had a direct effect on science.

Married at the Bride's Home at Noon Yesterday.

Miss Aline M. Dittrich, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dittrich, were married at high noon yesterday at her home on York avenue, to Hugh T. McCabe. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend E. A. Gernant, in the presence of a small company of immediate relatives, the only guests from out of town being Mr. and Mrs. Olin McCabe of North bride is one of Towanda's most charmgrandfather and grandmother, Mr. George Bush, and Mrs. Thomas Harvey, also of North Rome.

A wedding dinner was served, and Mr. and Mrs. McCabe left on the southbound Black Diamond for a wedding trip, after which they will be at home at 216 York avenue. Mr. McCabe is clerk in the office of register and recorded and a young man highly respected by all who know him; his bride is one of Towanda's most charming young ladies, and their friends will join in congratulations.

Thanksgiving is coming and so is Christmas and it is predicted that the price of turkeys will be so high that a man will have to go without any new winter underwear to raise necessary dust to buy the national bird. Let us hope that some thing will happen by which the prices may keep within reasonable bounds.

TOWANDA, PA., NOV. 10, 1904.

THE RESULT.

Republicanism is triumphant in county, state and nation. Roosevelt is elected by an overwhelming majority. In this state the unprecedented tidal wave of Republican majorities in 1900 is eclipsed by that of 1904. In the county the result is hardly less gratifying. Roosevelt sweeps the county by not less than 5,000, but there was considerable cutting and slashing of the local ticket. Edmiston, the Republican nominee for senator, carries the county by a majority of about 875, and the district by about 544.

The vote for Mr. Lilley for congress was somewhat reduced by that cast by the Prohibition candidate who made an active canvass throughout the district. Mr. Heermans, the Prohibition nominee, has a wide acquaintance and many friends. His candidacy drew many votes from the Republican nominee. Local and factional differences seriously affected the vote for district attorney and Mr. Mills, the Republican candidate, was the sufferer. The rest of the ticket was elected by majorities varying from

This overwhelming victory and the prospect of four years more of Roosevelt and Republican rule is most gratifying to every Republican heart. The verdict has been rendered by an overwhelming majority and its meaning cannot be mistaken. he result will be loyally accepted by every good citizen who believes in the rule of the majority.

The Towanda borough council is doing the wise thing in repairing her macadam roads as well as building new road. In order to get the best service from this excellent road, stone should be added each year at least and in New Jersey where these roads abound it is put on even more often than once a year. This paper is in belief that the Towanda roads are not rounded enough. After a few months wear the use of the center of the road causes a depression there and the collection of mud. If the roads are rounded more the water will readily reach the gutters and leave the center high and dry. Bridge street has the best grading, according to the manner of construction of the best macadam roads.

The gratitude of tramps is seen in a case at Elmira where one of the hobos after being fed in the kitchen, was discovered a little later in the evening robbing the refrigerator. This paper wagers that not one beggar in a thousand is worthy of charity. They are as a rule a shiftless, lazy, vicious class whose whereabouts should at once be reported to the police. Feeding them is to encourage them to continue their present method of gaining a livelihood.

Chairman Hall of the Democratic state committee claimed on Monday that the Republican plurality in the state would be reduced and that the Democrats would gain at least four congressmen. It seems the chairman was wrong. When a Democrat opens his mouth to claim anything in a Pennsylvania election people smile because they know he is talking simply because his turn to say something has come around.

The campaign in New York is marked with the utmost bitterness and not only the state candidates but both candidates for president have been abused and villified. Many of the daily newspapers are veritable scorchers so hot are they in defense of their own and in opposition to the other side's views.

The Philadelphia Press remarks that the Democratic party may be short of Thanksgiving turkey, but it will have plenty of crow.

It is now expected that the record of 60 miles in 35 seconds may be reached by the automobile. This is going some.

The Japs have pretty near captured Port Arthur, and Roosevelt has captured the union.

GROSS MISREPRESENTATION.

The Sayre Daily Times in its issue of Monday evening, Nov. 7, the last day before election, printed one of the greatest cases of misrepresentation that has ever appeared in Bradford county journalism. In last week's Reporter-Journal appeared a political advertisement and concerning it an editorial was printed in the same issue of the Reporter-Journal as follows:

On another page of The Reporter-Journal appears an advertisement calling attention to the candidacy of George W. Kipp, who seeks an election as state senator on the Democratic ticket. In this advertisement appears a fac simile of the ticket to be voted next Tuesday, marked to vote for every Republican except Senator Edmiston for state senator. The form of ticket is worth studying, and if not certain as to the proper way to mark it, talk the matter over with some of your neighbors who understand it. Many a vote is lost by not marking the ticket correctly. The sure and safe way for every Republican is to vote the straight ticket, and this can be done by placing an x in the large square opposite the word Republican, on the upper left hand corner of the official ballot.

The Sayre Daily Times, which has been pandering to the lowest instincts of the voters of its clientele, used the first part of the editorial down to and including the word "correctly." It then omitted the section as follows:

The sure and safe way for every Republican is to vote the straight ticket, and this can be done by placing an 'x' in the large square opposite the word 'Republican' on the upper left hand corner of the official ballot.

Taking the first part of the editorial without its ending the Daily Times says: "Read the above quoted carefully, and if that isn't supporting Kipp's candidacy, what in the name of heaven is it?"

Why did not the Sayre Daily Times print the last part of the Reporter-Journal's editorial? Because it gave the lie to the contention they were endeavoring to show—namely, that the Reporter-Journal was working against Senator Robert S. Edmiston. The Reporter-Journal supported the Republican ticket throughout in the campaign this year and it advised the voters in its editorial on the advertisement to vote the straight ticket. The attention that was called to the sample ballot was for the purpose of letting the voters know how to vote a straight ticket, or if they wished how they could otherwise intelligently mark their ballots. The man who wrote the article in The Times has stultified himself and the newspaper in which it was printed. He has grossly and maliciously misrepresented the Reporter-Journal, and the public can readily see the despicable kind of misrepresentation which has been carried on by the Sayre Daily Times.

THE AWFUL COST OF CRIME.

Statistics recently gathered show that the annual cost of crime in the United States is over $200,000,000 direct and an additional $400,000,000 indirect, or the enormous total of $600,000,000. There are fully 100,000 convicts now in the reformatories prisons and penitentiaries of the United States. The majority of these are under 30 years of age and juvenile crime is on the increase. Three-fourths of the criminal class are said to come from neglected, abandoned, defective and delinquent children who are permitted to grow up without proper training.

The record is appaling and yet is certainly suggestive or remedy. The greatest remedy is without a doubt education. Those in charge of our public schools who have been discouraged over the question of getting children into the school may take up the cudgel of the compulsory school law without fear and with the knowledge that it is the class who do not care whether their children go to school or not that must be driven by the sanction of the law to give their children the education which may remove them from the ranks of shiftless, ignorant idlers into the class of the intelligent worker, however humble a trade he may choose to follow.

The reformation of the criminal is all right as far as it goes but the cleaning of the stream at its source, in childhood, is by far the better course. Towanda has some young lads who are always on the street whom dissolute men tease, calling them the language of the low drinking place and the brothrel. These boys will have the disposition toward crime. They may not become criminals but the chances in life will be against them unless they are raised from the class in which they are raised and brought into touch with enlightenment and education. Let the boy of the vicious parents be given the uplifting hand! He may be saved and at least he may be helped.

It is reported that the Democratic chairman is wearing a smile that won't come off. If it don't come off today it is proof against all attack. When Parker accused Theodore Roosevelt of personal dishonesty and blackmail he "woke up the wrong passenger."

TWO LOVELY CHARACTERS.

The Evening News of Athens on Friday last had a long editorial accusing this paper of a desire to elect George W. Kipp, the Democratic candidate for state senator, because we printed Mr. Kipp's advertisement showing how to mark the ballot to vote for him. The editorial predicted that "the plea that the editors will offer in extenuation of this offense is that the matter referred to is "paid advertising."

The Evening News is right. That is the "excuse." Nothing else can be offered and surely nothing else is needed. Our course justifies itself, and we have no apologies to make. We have always done this kind of advertising and doubtless shall do the same thing again for it is a right and proper thing to do.

We will show you, gentle reader, what the conscientious and white souled editor who steers the destinies of the Evening News has been doing. On Oct. 28 he printed in his paper giving it the position of honor on the editorial page, a column article whooping it up for the Prohibition party and booming W. H. S. Heermans of Towanda for congress. The article strongly urged the readers of the paper to vote for the Prohibition candidate and gave a fine and imposing picture of Mr. Heermans. There is nothing in the paper to show that the article is even "paid for," but as the News is a Republican paper we suppose it is. And sad and strange to relate, our Republican candidate for congress might search the paper until his eyes grew dim with age and not find a word to the effect that it was worth while to vote for him. Puzzling as it may be there is no doubt about it—the Evening News has printed a "paid ad" which is in the interest of a congressional candidate who is an opponent of Mr. Lilley and two or three days later cries treachery and treason until its throat is cracked because the Reporter-Journal and Bradford Republican has done exactly a similar thing.

From the above it appears that there is such a thing as walking into your own trap and this is what the News man has done. He was "too smart." Besides making it plain to everyone that his accusation of treachery against the Reporter-Journal was a sham and that he is a hypocrite, he has made himself a butt for ridicule and an example of stupidity. When an editor is a hypocrite it is bad, and when he is an ass it is bad, but when he uses his own paper to demonstrate that he is both, it is so bad that the English language breaks down in trying to name it. We now shall enjoy watching him squirm.

The "editor" of the Sayre Times whose mental strength and love of truth register several degrees lower even than the Evening News man and who evidently had his inspiration from the same sources, did exactly the same thing—printed the Prohibition advertisement and then howls at us for publishing Mr. Kipp's. We will pass him by. One punch will settle him. Who cares to hit him?

CHILDREN OF SCHOOL AGE.

Dr. Benjamin Lee, secretary of the State board of health, has sent a warning through the state that it would be folly to suspend in the least degree any effort to prevent the continuance of smallpox and a renewed epidemic. All school boards have received a letter from Mr. Lee as follows:

You are instructed to address a communication to the parent or guardian of every child of school age in your district to the effect that no child of school age in your district be permitted to enter school who cannot present a certificate of successful vaccination signed by a reputable physician. The penalty for neglect or refusal to comply with the law is a fine of $5 or imprisonment for a period not exceeding sixty days.

A gang of election repeaters has been discovered at Elmira and by the confession of one of them the plan to have them go from Elmira, to Syracuse and Binghamton and vote many times is fully disclosed. There is nothing this side of a penitentiary bad enough punishment for repeaters, those who hire them or election officers who knowingly allow them to carry on their dastardly work. When such a practice is carried on in Bradford county, if it is proven, the election officers who contenance such work, should be railroaded to the pen and every one who had a hand in it emblazoned as an enemy of the law and of his fellow citizens. Robbery at the polls is no better than entering a house in the dead of night and taking money from the occupants. Punish the election repeater, the man who hires him and the election officer who is an accessory to the crime.

Most of the shoes in China are made by women who earn the sum of 6½ cents per day at their trade There are over 700 shoe shops in the city of Canton alone, employing 8,000 male operatives and 20,000 females. What a cut into things one of the modern American shoe factories would make over there!

Roosevelt announces that he will not be a candidate for a third term. Teddy's head is level—always level.

HOW KING CURED HIMSELF.

Dr. Byron W. King, who is one of the favorite instructors at the county teachers' institute, has had an unusual career, the story of which should be an encouragement to many a young man. Dr. King was born with ambition to become a public speaker, but he was also born with an impediment in his speech which was apparently an insurmountable obstacle in the way of forensic distinction. He stammered most amazingly. At the age of thirteen he made an attempt ao speak on the school platform, but a more dismal failure is seldom recounted in the history of a poor, heart-sick little lad. Like another Demosthenes he sought nature—not the shore, but the forest for solace; and his breast swelling with half-sobbing disappointment, he unwittingly struck upon the cure for stammering which has made of him an orator and has helped thousands to overcome their local impediment. He discovered that to keep the solar plexus firm—to distend and hold in tension the muscles of the stomach, would aid in the facility of speech. He went back to his teacher, who was himself distressed by his pupil's fiasco, and shouted, without a stammer: "I can say it now!" and he did say it, unfaltering. Since that time he has had as pupils such men as James G. Blaine, J. J. Ingalls and others among the greatest orators of the country. He has followed out his system in his school of oratory, which is the largest in the world, and has relieved a multitude of speakers from the stumbling block in their way. Yet this man told repeatedly, as a boy that he had neither gift of speech nor voice to become an orator.—Scranton Tribune.

There is a new class yell going around loose and unmuzzled in Binghamton as follows:

"Beer! Whiskey! Rum! Rye!
Highballs! Cocktails! My! oh My!
Blerrio, Blario, Blayria, Bly,
Nineteen seven, Bingo High."

If it survives until February, the class of 1907, Binghamton high school, may organize and give it a home. If the school authorities are wise they will discourage the class and put it back in the nursery for more training.

Talk about boycotts and interference at the hands of labor unions. They are not in it with the attitude of two discharged domestics who for two days held the family at bay by barricading themselves in the garret of a house at Latrobe. If Carrie Nation needs any more help let her come to Pennsylvania.

The people didn't scare at "imperialism" in 1900 and they have refused to be frightened by the same bogey this year.

Bryan will now say, "I told you so," and no one will blame him. He will now proceed to reorganize the "reorganizers."

The Democrats were hard up for issues and the result shows they were hard up for votes.

Four years more of Roosevelt.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

DOG AND DIPLOMAT

By LOWELL OTUS REESE

Copyright, 1904, by Lowell Otus Reese

Magnolia was one of those quiet little towns by the southern sea where many people go to spend the winter. Its chief beauty lay in the wide forest of live oaks all about, through which wound the level driveway, with its accompanying bicycle path. The sea knocked lazily at the door, but never with enough energy to cause the quiet little town to give it any attention beyond that of an occasional midwinter bathing party or a clambaking expedition up the coast, where the rocks were large and black in the moonlight and the scene peculiarly adapted to the telling of ghost stories and the walks home eminently well suited to the telling of love stories which, while not so thrilling, were infinitely more satisfactory.

Carleton saw her on the avenue one morning. He watched her enter a certain house with magnolias in the front yard. She entered with an air of proprietorship, and Carleton promptly decided that it was her home. He strode away to the nearest drug store and by skillful diplomacy elicited from the benevolent old gentleman with spectacles that the house was occupied by Colonel Barclay of New York, and—

But Carleton promptly forgot the rest of it as being "irrelevant, incompetent and immaterial." He remembered the name, however, and he saw her again that evening—afar off.

He was a modest fellow, and he tried to keep out of sight. However, he thought about her most assiduously, and finally he dreamed about her. This was getting serious. To think all day about a girl you've never met and to dream about her all night is alarming and an indication that it is time for you to leave town or hunt up a mutual friend.

Carleton knew no one in Magnolia, and he could not induce himself to leave. He continued to haunt the beach and drive and tell his troubles to the big pointer, who always listened with an appreciative thump of the tail and a tremendous droop of his cavernous jaw.

One evening Carleton was lying upon the grass half a mile from town when suddenly the pointer sprang up with a startled bark and rushed out into the middle of the bicycle path, frisking and ready for a romp. He was just in time to collide with Miss Barclay's wheel and send that frightened young lady to the ground in an undignified heap.

Carleton ran out in a perfect agony of contrition. "It's all Don's fault!" he cried. "I hope you won't—are you hurt?" he finished anxiously.

The young lady was regarding her muddy costume with mingled wrath and mortification. Her face burned a rosy red, and she sprang quickly upon her wheel and started with all speed from the scene of her tumble.

"He's a horrid, muddy beast," she half sobbed, "and if I owned him I would have him shot." Then with a half glance at the abject young man, who stood hat in hand, she swept around a bend in the road and was gone.

Carleton stood benumbed. "It's all over now," he sighed. "Don, you've done it this time all right." The poor pointer hung his head and slunk away to lie down behind a tree and watch his master with agonized, apprehensive eyes. He was guilty, but so sorry.

Carleton regarded him long and thoughtfully.

"Don, old boy," he said. "It's up to you. You've got to be sacrificed. It goes hard with me, old chap, but she has condemned you, and that settles it."

Don wagged his tail anxiously and with doubt. He didn't understand, only that things were not at all right and that there was trouble ahead.

When Miss Barclay came down the next morning she found the big pointer tied to a magnolia tree in her front yard. Affixed to his collar was a card. She stood for a moment in blank amazement looking at the dog. Don sat down and smiled at her, thrashing his tail vigorously among the leaves to tell her he was sorry, but mighty friendly.

The girl approached slowly. Don watched her, but made no extravagant demonstrations. It was a point in his favor and went far toward excusing his ill chosen frivolity of the day before.

Miss Barclay laid a tentative hand upon his head. Don looked into her eyes gravely, but made no effort to presume upon the short acquaintance by unseemly fawnings.

The girl smiled finally. "Whose dog are you, anyway?" she asked quizzically.

The pointer opened his wide jaws and laughed with a soft, panting breath. Then he solemnly raised the right paw and laid it in Miss Barclay's hand. Curiosity took possession of the girl, and she tore the card from the dog's collar and read it:

Dear Miss Barclay—Here is the bearer, Don, pursuant to your expressed wish of yesterday. Perhaps it is a bit cowardly, but I confess I haven't the heart to kill him myself. He and I have been chums a long time, and he is the only being I know in the whole south. So, while I express my deepest regret for the annoyance he caused you yesterday, let me bespeak for him an easy and painless death, for he has his good points. Very respectfully, ROBERT CARLETON.

"Well!" ejaculated Miss Barclay when she had read it. "Oh, my!" She glanced furtively up and down the street and across the way and seemed about to run. Nobody was in sight, however, save a ragged negro boy carrying a valise around the corner. "How foolish of me!" she smiled. She reread the note and looked at the dog. Don wigwagged her a friendly signal, and the tears came to her eyes. "Kill such a dear fellow! Never!"

She sat down on the grass and puckered her brows as she thought. Presently a light came into her eyes and she gasped. Then she frowned and smiled.

"Impudent rascal!" she said. "He's trying to get acquainted with me. It's perfectly outrageous of him!" She tried to be angry—very, very angry. But somehow she did not quite succeed. She remembered the picture of a tall, flushed young fellow with a well bred face standing before her with a look of miserable apology, and she was bound to confess that she was not able to feel just as indignant as she ought. She read the note once more.

"Impudent!" she said to Don. "Impudent—but—but clever!" and she laughed. The dog laughed back and whacked the ground violently with his tail.

Then the real serious part of the puzzle occurred to her. She did not know the man's address. How then could she send this valuable animal back to him? And really did she not owe him an apology for her rude remark to him yesterday? He had not been to blame, and he had tried so hard to apologize.

After awhile she decided to advertise—discreetly. It seemed the best solution of the distracting problem. She untied the rope and led the dog around to the rear of the house, where she turned him over to the housemaid, and went in to telephone her advertisement to the paper.

Fifteen minutes later she found herself out in the back yard again. Don's eyes met her reproachfully. He was confined ignominiously in a chicken coop.

Miss Barclay tried her best to think it was all right. Then she gave it up. He was such a splendid dog after all! She took him from the coop and allowed him the freedom of the back yard. Don did not abuse the privilege. He seemed to understand that he was on parole. He lay down at her feet and watched her adoringly. She wandered away to the hammock and tried to forget the whole incident in a book. Don followed, sat down and peered solemnly over the edge of the hammock with grave eyes which seemed to say, "What are you going to do about it?"

That evening Carleton picked up the paper and read:

R. C.—Your dog has been pardoned and released on his own recognizance. Please come and get him. L. B.

And when Carleton called Don had been promoted. He was in the parlor, lying on the best Persian rug.

* * * * * * *

"Bless old Don!" said Carleton fervently six months later. "He caused it all. He's a diplomat worthy the court of St. James."

"Yes," said Miss Barclay, with a shy smile, "he's almost as great a diplomat as his master, save that he lacks his master's impudence."

"Perhaps," assented Carleton cheerfully, "but much goes with impudence which might possibly be missed by mere diplomacy." And he kissed her.

Wisdom That Comes With Age.

I well remember one case before a justice in which I acted as respondent's counsel in a criminal action and in which an older and well known attorney was my opponent. As I thought then and as I know now, the law and evidence were well in favor of my client, and at the close of the arguments I looked with great confidence for a prompt acquittal. Judge of my astonishment when my unfortunate client was found guilty and sentenced to thirty days in jail. I promptly entered an appeal and furnished sureties to prosecute the same. Before I left the courtroom the justice took occasion to take me aside and say, "Young man, I kinder thought ye were right, but I knowed Judge W. (naming my opponent) is a sight older'n you be and a sight better lawyer'n you be, and so of course I gin him judgment."—Judge Shute in Leslie's Monthly.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Policy Becomes Void if House is Vacated for Ten Days.

Judge Beitler created somewhat of a sensation in the Court of Common Pleas at Philadelphia, recently, by his ruling respecting a clause in a policy of fire insurance.

Patrick Hardiman was a plaintiff in a suit against the Fire Association of Philadelphia to recover $10,500 insurance on a house and farm buildings in New Jersey.

Hardiman's policy, dated August 16, 1899, was good for three years. It contained a clause that the policy would be void if the buildings should become vacant for ten consecutive days.

In the fall of 1899 Hardiman vacated his farm property on the road between Bridgeboro and Moorestown and went to Philadelphia to live. He remained there until the following spring. His occupancy continued from May on up to the time of the fire, September 13, 1900.

Attorney Albert L. Moise contended on behalf of the Fire Association that because the farm buildings had been left unoccupied for a period of ten days the insurance policy became void.

After the evidence had been submitted, Judge Beitler sustained the main contention respecting the ten days' clause and directed the jury to find a verdict for the defendants.

In ruling upon the question, Judge Beitler said he arrived at the conclusion with great reluctance, as the same clause was contained in every policy of fire insurance, and there were thousands of householders in Philadelphia today holding similar policies who could not collect one penny if their property was destroyed by fire.

There is a clause in all insurance policies which provides that the same is void, if kerosene is kept on the premises (which may be used for lights and kept for sale according to law but in quantities not exceeding five barrels, provided it be drawn and lamps filled by daylight or at a distance not less than ten feet from artificial lights.)

WILL APPLY FOR CHARTER.

Athens Mining and Development Association Elected New Officers.

The stockholders of the Athens Mining and Development association held a meeting on Monday evening and elected the following officers: President, J. L. Elsbree; treasurer, J. M. Cramer; secretary, F. H. Sherman, and Charles Ostrander and Eugene Allen, manager.

It was about five years ago when Mr. Ostrander located what has proved since being analyzed, the formation of coal, near Barney Kane's in Athens township. He interested other parties and they have since worked faithfully though slow on account of lack of funds, and dug a tunnel 150 feet deep for the purpose of locating the vein. They have made a number of important discoveries, which if they fail to locate coal will prove of value. They propose to apply for a charter at once and begin operations. Instead of tunneling as heretofore, they intend to drill. The indications of gas are very strong and the company believe that they will open up a pocket in paying volumes. Stock to the amount of $5,000 has been issued in 1,000 shares at $5 per share. The other members of the company are R. J. Mulligan, Wm. Carpenter and Fred Corby. They now have between four and five thousand acres of land under lease.—Athens Gazette.

STRAPPED ON A BOARD FOR PAST EIGHTEEN MONTHS.

Young Son of Emmons Loewus Is Now Able to Walk.

To lay strapped to a board for 19 months, through day and night, has been the lot of Victor, the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Loewus of this place. Sunday the young lad returned from New Yor with his father the board removed but his waist still encased in a jacket of plaster of paris. The little fellow now walks about the house and suffers no pain from the spinal trouble that made the heroic treatment that he underwent necessary.

When the boy was a little over two years old, after a sickly infancy, he began to learn to walk. After he had been walking for about two weeks his parents noticed that he semed to be in pain. Finally it was decided to take him to New York and Dr. Herman C. Frauenthal, a specialist in spinal and joint diseases and deformities was consulted. He advised placing the patient on a board. The father consented that this should be done and when the little one first returned to Towanda it was strapped to his unbending couch of wood. For 19 months the little fellow has undergone the treatment, returning to New York every three months that the physician might examine his condition and watch his improvement.

During all his long encasement Victor has been patient and cheerful. He has often been seen on the street, being drawn in a little red wagon, his bright eyes looking out upon those who passed him as he lay there strapped to the board. Remarkable at it may seem Victor has kept well during his long siege of treatment. He has made rapid advancement and shows as much knowledge as the average child of seven or eight years. His parents are delighted that he can now do without the board and have the highest hopes that the treatment has cured the spinal trouble with which he was afflicted.

AN UNBIDDEN GUEST.

Something Doing at the Ward House In the Early Morn.

There was something doing in the servants' quarters at the Ward House early Friday morning. Cries of "Help," "Murder," with appeals to two popular porters to come to their assistance came from a room occupied by two of the waitresses. It seems that at about 3 o'clock in the morning one of the girls was awakened by snores which came very plainly from under the bed.

Then worse than this, the springs began to rise and the girls then knew that the end had come—a man was under the bed. Some piercing yells rent the air, then others of the girls came in and as one of the waitresses stood holding a light and peering cautiously under the bed from a safe distance a dog walked calmly out from under the bed and wagged its tail good naturedly. It had gotten in during the day and was enjoying a fine sleep, snoring like a good fellow after a big dinner, until its rest was disturbed by the alarm sent in by the occupants of the bed.

Troy Gets Lights.

At the session of the Troy borough council on Monday night an agreement was entered into with the Troy Gas, Power, Heat and Electric company by the terms of which Troy will soon have an all-night, every-night service, from 19 2,000 candle power arc lights. The price will be $1,500 a year for a period of ten years. The plant will consist of a 160 horse power boiler, a Hamilton Corliss engine of 160 horse and a 2,500 light Warren inductor alternator dynamo.

Prosperous Canton Industry.

The company have just declared a 6 per cent dividend.—Canton World.

Death at Wyalusing.

Elmer Cox, a prominent citizen of Wyalusing, died Saturday morning at 3:15 o'clock. Mr. Cox has been in poor health for some time with consumption but had been confined to his bed only about four weeks. He was about 43 years of age and leaves a wife who was before her marriage Miss Alice Smith, and his father and mother. The funeral was held Monday at Camptown and prayer at the house at Wyalusing. The Masonic body had charge of the services.

New Boiler at Electric Station.

The Towanda Electric Illuminating Co. has installed a new 140 H. P. boiler in its station on South Main street, replacing a boiler of smaller size. The change was necessary on account of the increasing business of the company, both in lighting and steam heating, and the plant is now equipped in an admirable manner. The boiler capacity of the station is increased by this new installation from 260 to 330 horse power.

Fire at Grover.

The barn of Albert Schanbacker at Grover, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night of last week. With the assistance of neighbors the owner got out the horses and cattle. The loss consisted of the building, 50 tons of hay, straw, lumber, cutter, one ton of buckwheat shorts, etc. The insurance will probably cover the loss. The origin of the fire is supposed to be incendiary.

ATHENS HIGH SCHOOL WON A WELL CONTESTED GAME.

Local High School Showed Surprising Strength in First Half.

The Athens High School foot ball team defeated the Towanda High School team at the East Side ball park last week Wednesday by a score of 17 to 0. Although greatly outweighing the local team and having the advantage of experience, the Athens team could not score in the first half, and the Towanda team did great work on holding them down.

Captain Ayers kicked off for Towanda and Athens began to pound the line for gains. Both sides lost the ball on downs then and Towanda, after a few downs, got the ball on a fumble. Fairchild made a fine run around end but another fumble gave the ball to Athens. Time was up with neither side scoring. In this half the Towanda line played low and the backs tackled hard. Athens covered more ground, however, and their superiority in both weight and practice was evident.

In the second half Athens kicked off to Captain Ayers, who fumbled but recovered the ball. Then a disaster happened. Towanda fumbled and although Smith claims that he called down before he lost the ball, Athens secured the ball and Kaufman carried it over the line. LaPlant missed the goal. Ayers kicked off and Athens made two good gains, a delayed pass netting about 20 yards. Finch hammered through a touchdown and LaPlant made the goal. Score 11 to 0.

Athens kicked off to Smith, who ran the ball back in good shape. Athens soon had the ball on downs. Carpenter made a fine gain and Kaufman broke through the line for another touchdown. LaPlant kicked the goal. This ended the scoring and the result was Athens 17, Towanda 0.

Spalding of Athens, was injured in the second half and his place was taken by Hickey. The line-up was as follows:

Athens.	Position.	Towanda.
Kramer	r.e. l.e.	Silverman
H. Andrews	r.t. l.t.	Rogers

A LUMBERMAN AND HIS MONEY.

Became Separated Permanently From Each Other in Towanda.

The latter part of last week a lumberman from the Laquin region came to Towanda to see a little of the world after a long siege of hard work in the woods. He proceeded to "bowl up" in company with some friends in the First ward. On Saturday night he had secured more than his share of booze, and that night went to sleep near the river bank.

In the cold starlight of Sunday morning he awoke and took an inventory of his feelings, condition and personal effects. He discovered that while he slumbered some one had separated him from forty good, hard dollars and a gold watch. Not having any clue to the ones who had despoiled him, he made no fuss loud enough to reach the ears of the police, but betook himself to the woods, there to accumulate another wad.

The Smallest He Had.

On a recent afternoon Alderman Batzie, of Williamsport, married William James Shearer, aged 18, of Floral, and Miss Clara Birchard, aged 35, of Gaines. After the ceremony the groom handed the alderman a fifty-cent piece remarking that it was the smallest he had. The alderman, after thinking it over, returned the fee to the young man and told him to keep it, that if it was the smallest he had he would need it more than he did.

MR. ROOSEVELT VOTES

President Goes to Oyster Bay to Cast His Ballot.

RETURNS AT ONCE TO CAPITAL

Makes Flying Trip by Special Trains and Tugs and Gets Back In Time to Hear Returns—Well Received In His Home Village.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov 8.—President Roosevelt and his party arrived here at 9:41 a. m. on a special train from Long Island City. President Roosevelt was driven directly from the station in the carriage of Mrs. J. West Roosevelt to the polling place in the Fifth precinct of Oyster Bay. There he cast his ballot, No. 165. The polling place is located in the second story of the Fisher building, on East Main street.

The president was received with enthusiasm by an immense crowd. He sprang briskly from the carriage and ran upstairs, entered the polling place and shook hands with the judges of the election. He was given his ballot and retired immediately to one of the booths, remaining in it scarcely more than half a minute. As he came out and handed his ballot to the presiding judge a photograph was taken.

As he turned away from the ballot box he was cordially greeted by many old friends and acquaintances who had gathered to see him. Descending the stairs, he entered the carriage with Mrs. J. West Roosevelt and went for a drive. As he drove away the crowd cheered him enthusiastically.

The president left Washington at 12:30 a. m. over the Pennsylvania railroad, arriving in Jersey City at 7:13. There he boarded a Pennsylvania railroad tug, which took him to Long Island City, where a Long Island railroad train was waiting to carry him to Oyster Bay.

Immediately after leaving the polls Mr. Roosevelt started on his return to Washington by the same route by which he came. He was due to reach Washington at 6:30 p. m. He was accompanied on his flying trip by Secretary Loeb and several secret service men.

PARKER VOTES IN KINGSTON.

Drives Over From Esopus With Secretary McCausland.

Esopus, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Judge Parker slept later than he has in many months. It was after 8 o'clock when he arose. The judge and Mr. McCausland took the buckboard and drove to Kingston, where they cast their ballots.

About the polls in Kingston were crowds of men and women who gathered to see the judge cast his vote, and he received a great welcome.

The building in which Judge Parker and his secretary cast their votes was formerly used as a pottery. It is the Third district of the Ninth ward of Kingston and is one of the most picturesque polling places in Ulster county.

The weather was perfect, and on the return they decided to take the Eddyville road, which passes through a gap in the mountains and is several miles longer than the main road.

After returning home Judge Parker spent the time in receiving reports of the election.

Grover Cleveland's Vote.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Just as the clock was striking 10 former President Grover Cleveland strolled quietly into the First district polling place, accompanied by his beagle hound. Mr. Cleveland walked from his home, which is only two blocks distant, and when he appeared the long line gave way and allowed him to enter at once. The ex-president came out of the booth with a pleasant smile for those standing around, and after a few words with a friend he sauntered back to Westlands.

Few Arrests In New York.

New York, Nov. 8.—Arrests for illegal voting were few, very few, in proportion to the enormous number of warrants issued. Superintendent Morgan had about 3,000 deputies stationed at the various polling places, nearly four times the usual number.

Father and Son Vote With Odell.

Newburg, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Three generations of the Odells voted at 8:30 o'clock in the Third ward. The governor voted ballot No. 97, and a few moments later his father, ex-Mayor Odell, and his son, Herbert R. Odell, voted.

Higgins Casts Ballot 107.

Olean, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Lieutenant Governor Higgins voted in the Second ward a few minutes before 9 o'clock. His ballot was No. 107. After voting he exchanged greetings with numerous friends and returned to his home.

DOLBEER WILL CASE.

Contestant's Counsel Asserts Testatrix Was of Unsound Mind.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—At the opening session of the Dolbeer will contest, the trial of which has just commenced here, Adolph Schender, counsel for the contestant, said he proposed to show that Miss Bertha M. Dolbeer was of unsound mind when she made the will bequeathing over $1,000,000 to Mis Etta M. Warren.

The testimony of Mrs. Sherman, a cousin of Miss Dolbeer, one of the strongest witnesses for the contestant, was read to the jury. She testified to the effect that "a change came over Miss Dolbeer in the last year; she looked sad and appeared indifferent to anybody or anything or to life," but the witness had never seen or heard anything that would firmly establish the fact of an unbalanced mind.

Mrs. Scott Bowen of Oakland testified that Miss Dolbeer's mother was afflicted with insomnia and melancholia at the time of her daughter's birth.

Mrs. Mary Ribbey, employed as foster mother for Miss Dolbeer in 1878 and 1879, told of Mrs. Dolbeer's insanity and suicide.

NEW JAPANESE LOAN.

America Will Take Half of the $60,000,000 Worth of Bonds.

London, Nov. 8.—The prospectus of the new Japanese loan of $60,000,000 will be issued within a day or two. Half of the amount will be offered in New York and half in London. The price is 90½, with interest at six per cent. The loan will be secured by a second charge on the Japanese customs. Dealings in the loan have already commenced at 1¼ premium.

This is the second loan raised by Japan this year. The first was for $50,000,000, issued in April and equally distributed as between English and American investors. It was allotted to the underwriting bankers at about 90 and was offered to the public at 93½. The offer was an unexpectedly great success, and the market price rose to 95½ last summer.

The loan of last spring was made a first charge on the Japanese customs revenue. The lower price at which the new loan is offered is a recognition of the fact that increase in such borrowing ordinarily calls for offer of larger inducements to lenders.

MAY DESERT HARRY THAW.

Evelyn Nesbit Alleged to Have Offered to Do So For $250,000.

Pittsburg, Nov. 7.—It is announced here that if the Thaws care to give Evelyn Nesbit, reported to be the wife of young Harry K. Thaw, $250,000 there will be little or no trouble in coming to an agreement.

The word came to Pittsburg in a way that seemed most direct and caused some little consternation, following on the heels of the notice which had been filed on Harry Thaw by the angry family here.

That Miss Nesbit was married to young Thaw in Paris is no longer doubted, and the matter of breaking the wedding up now seems to be the question. The Pittsburg friends of Miss Nesbit say they are sure that, if things are fixed properly for the young woman, she will go abroad at once, allowing Harry K. Thaw to sue for divorce on the grounds of desertion.

THE ERIE BARGE CANAL.

Engineer Board Finds It Can Be Completed For $101,000,000.

New York, Nov. 7.—Specifications and estimates of the cost of six sections of the proposed thousand ton barge canal have been completed by the advisory board of engineers, and bids to build these sections will be advertised for as soon as Attorney General Cunneen approves the form of the bonds to be given by the contractors.

The six sections for which the specifications have been made are typical of the whole work; therefore an accurate forecast, the engineers say, may be made of the total cost by taking the cost of the six as a basis, and, they add, the total cost will be within the $101,000,000 authorized for the canal improvement in 1903. The preliminary estimate of the cost of the six sections referred to was $5,891,650. The estimate of the advisory board for the same work is $5,771,617.

NOGI'S OLIVE BRANCH

Japanese Commander Sends Message to Port Arthur Garrison.

IGNORES GENERAL STOESSEL

Urges Men to Surrender Without Waiting For Their Officers to Do So and Promises to Treat Them Well if They Will Give Up.

Chefu, Nov. 8.—The Japanese besieging Port Arthur, ignoring Lieutenant General Stoessel, the commander of the Russian military forces there, have offered terms of surrender to the Russian soldiers, according to advices from Port Dalny. In the meanwhile the ceaseless activity of picks and spades continues. The Japanese are gradually advancing their trenches, which spell inexorable fate to the watching Russians.

A Russian prisoner captured Oct. 26 said the troops composing the garrison of Port Arthur were in want and dispirited. They saw the fruitlessness of the struggle. Hopeless of relief, with food scarce and medicine and hospital supplies insufficient, it was admitted by the Russians that a Japanese victory was ultimately inevitable. The soldiers, according to the prisoner, see no reason to prolong the resistance, which brings glory to their officers, but chiefly hardship and death to them.

Upon hearing the prisoner's story General Nogi assembled his staff, discussed the matter briefly and then under the light of a bicycle lantern drafted a letter to be circulated among the soldiers themselves, the prisoner having promised to deliver it in mercy to his comrades.

The letter related General Kuropatkin's retreats and his inability to make an impression on the army of Field Marshal Oyama, to say nothing of breaking through his forces and relieving Port Arthur. The letter also pointed out that the second Russian Pacific squadron has just started on its slow voyage. Continuing, it called attention to the resistless advance of the Japanese trenches, making it a matter of weeks when the Japanese would walk into the main Russian strongholds. In conclusion the letter offered humane treatment to all who surrender, saying it was in the interests of humanity to prevent further useless slaughter.

Soldiers Promise Early Answer.

In the darkness of the early morning of Nov. 4 several copies of the letter, written in Russian, were given to the prisoner, who regained the Russian lines unobserved by his officers. That night the Russian returned, saying his comrades would answer within a few days. He said the temper of the men seemed to show that while they were mutinous toward fate they also did not like the idea of an unofficial surrender.

The letter did much, however, to dispel among the Russian troops the impression fostered by their officers that a massacre would follow a Japanese victory. The company to which the prisoner belonged originally numbered 800 and now totals thirty men.

As the Japanese are sufficiently near the summits of the hills to render tunneling highly practicable, much of this work is now being done. The Russians are building counter tunnels. Whichever side finds its tunnel under the enemy's blows up the latter's tunnel. To prevent explosives being rolled down into their trenches the Japanese have made ranges or hillocks of earth above the trenches.

Five Russian mine sweeping steamers have been sunk by Japanese shells.

PREPARING FOR BATTLE.

Both Sides Still Strengthening Positions at Shakhe.

Tokyo, Nov. 8.—Reports from the Shakhe river state that both armies are still strengthening their positions along the river and are otherwise busily preparing for another great battle. The scouts are constantly in touch, and frequent outpost skirmishes occur, but there is no likelihood of a general engagement for the present.

Re-enforcements of Russian troops, guns and supplies are constantly arriving at the front, filling the gaps caused by the crushing losses at the battle of Shakhe river.

Siege Progressing Satisfactorily.

Tokyo, Nov. 8.—Unofficial news received from Port Arthur since Saturday's report of the progress made by the besiegers indicates that the Japanese operations are proceeding satisfactorily, though slowly. Limestone formations and rocky ground interfere with the sapping. It is now considered that the capture of Rihlung mountain and East Keekwan mountain without Antse and Etse mountains is not sufficient to force the Russians to abandon the city proper.

Russian Reserves Mutinous.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The disorders in connection with the mobilization of the reserves have been widespread, notably in the provinces of Vitebsk and Vilna, and there has been considerable violence in western Poland, where troops are reported to have actually fired on the rioters. Many families of reserve men in Poland are reported to be in great distress. The wives are allowed only 10 and the children 5 cents a day.

Port Said Expecting Rojestvensky.

Port Said, Egypt, Nov. 8.—The Russian consul general at Cairo and the naval attache of Russia at Constantinople are here in connection with the expected arrival of the Russian second Pacific squadron. Extraordinary precautions are being taken for the protection of the warships. Special guards have been posted on the banks the whole length of the canal.

Ryeshitelni's Crew at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Nov. 8.—The officers and crew of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni, which the Japanese cut out of the harbor at Chefu on Aug. 12, arrived here on the Manjur, with the exception of the commander, who escaped at Woosung. He is probably now homeward bound on a German mail steamer.

Continuous Artillery Duel.

Mukden, via Peking, Nov. 8.—Artillery firing was continuous all along the lines. A battle might commence at any hour. It will be a question of many days, if not weeks, to decide the position, which is the most interesting since the commencement of the war. Each side is waiting for the other to attack.

Jap Warship Reported Sunk.

Shanghai, Nov. 8.—It is reported in British naval circles that a Japanese man-of-war has been sunk by a mine off Port Arthur.

WOMAN KILLED IN DUEL.

Fatal Quarrel Between Young Wives of Wyoming Ranch Men.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Evanston, Wyo., says that Mrs. Leon Demars, shot in a duel by her neighbor, Mrs. Nancy Richards, is dead.

Several times the women had come to blows, and each had warned the other the next encounter would be with guns. Mrs. Demars went to Mrs. Richards' ranch, near Fort Bridger, and upon being ordered away displayed a big revolver.

Mrs. Richards had been carrying a weapon in expectation of meeting Mrs. Demars. Mrs. Richards says Mrs. Demars fired first, but there were no other witnesses. At the second shot Mrs. Demars fell with a bullet in her breast, but kept on firing, emptying the revolver.

Mrs. Richards also fired six shots. Both are wives of ranchers. They are thirty years old. Mrs. Richards was arrested.

Banished to Archangel.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—Mary Figner, who has been confined in the Schlusselburg fortress for twenty years, has been released and banished to Archangel, northern Russia. The woman was condemned to life imprisonment for participation in nihilist conspiracies. She waved her handkerchief as a signal indicating the approach of Alexander II. when he was assassinated here in 1881. Her brother, a famous Russian singer, interceded in her behalf with Alexander III. and secured a commutation of her sentence to twenty years' imprisonment. As the woman still avows desperate nihilistic sentiments she has now been banished.

Southern Pacific Gets Coveted Pass.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Phenix, Ariz., says that the best known pass through the Rocky mountain system has been awarded to the Southern Pacific railroad by Judge Doan. The judgment gives the Southern Pacific the contested right of way for eighteen miles between Kelvin and Dudleyville along the Gila river, immediately below a narrow box canyon, where not more than one road can find its way through. The decision was based mainly upon the fact that the Southern Pacific had filed its maps in the Tucson land office two hours before those of the Santa Fe.

Long Overdue Ship In Port.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—One of the longest passages of the year from Australia has been made by the French bark Notre Dame d'Arvora, arriving off the Heads, 103 days from Newcastle, with a cargo of coal. For some days past the vessel, which has always heretofore shown good speed, has been posted at the Merchants' Exchange as overdue, and a rate of 15 per cent for reinsurance has been quoted.

Leaves $35,000,000.

Duluth, Nov. 8.—Eldridge M. Fowler, mine owner and lumberman, formerly of Duluth, is dead in Pasadena, Cal. He was seventy years old and leaves a fortune estimated at $35,000,000. Fowler was the largest individual mine owner on the Mesaba range. He had a half interest in the Faval, the largest iron deposit in the world, and his income in royalties was $500,000 a year.

Shot For Assaulting a Judge.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 8.—Ed Doyle, a saloon keeper, was shot and slightly wounded by a constable at the Midway election booth. Doyle had assaulted Mrs. Kennedy, a Democratic judge, slapping her face and tearing her clothing. The constable interfered and was severely beaten before he shot Doyle.

McClusky Rounds Up Crooks.

New York, Nov. 8.—Inspector McClusky, in order to safeguard the crowds of people who watched the bulletin boards or went abroad on election night, used every available man on his staff in a roundup of western crooks. Twenty-six well known "operators" were arrested during the day.

Elmira Republican Leader Arrested.

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Daniel Berrigan, a Republican leader, was arrested in the Sixth ward for pulling a revolver on an election inspector who had ordered Berrigan from the booth. There were several fights in that ward. It is the residence of Elmira's Italian population.

Fall River Mills to Open.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 8.—The cotton manufacturers of this city, whose mills have been idle since July on account of a strike of 25,000 operatives over a 12½ per cent reduction in wages, voted to open their plants to such help as desired to resume work under the reduction.

TO APPEAL TO HERRICK

Cumminsville (O.) Women Will Ask Governor For Protection.

MORE VICTIMS OF WILD MAN

Cincinnati Suburb Completely Terrorized by Uninterrupted Series of Assaults of Mysterious Fiend—Police Unable to Find Any Clew.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—The women of Cumminsville are preparing an appeal to Governor Herrick for protection against the mysterious "wild man" who has committed three unspeakable murders and attacked in all eleven women. The apathy shown by the police has added to the horror and terror of the community.

Three new victims have come to light. Women who have suffered are finding courage to make the facts public.

For many miles on either side of Spring Grove cemetery women do not dare to leave their homes without escorts even in daylight. Armed men patrol the district at night, but the fiend has proved very elusive.

Coroner Weaver's verdict on the Mueller murder was transmitted to the police court. It says:

"From the testimony suspicion is directed to one Theodore Salmon and one William G. Wilson as being connected with the crime, and, their statements being disproved by witnesses heard, I am led to believe that they at least have guilty knowledge of the murder of Louisa Mueller."

Mrs. Winnes' Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Harry C. Winnes is the latest victim. That she escaped death was due to the fact that her husband returned home unexpectedly. She had just stepped across the threshold of her home when she was seized. Her one cry of distress brought her husband, who grabbed a shotgun and chased her assailant, discharging both barrels without effect.

A car's timely appearance saved Miss Dorothy Hannaford, the young daughter of former Mayor Samuel Hannaford, from Alma Steinway's tragic end on the same night as the third of the murders. Miss Hannaford was returning from a meeting of the Young Women's Christian association to her home in Winton place and was waiting for a trolley car near the spot where Miss Steinway was murdered. A short, rough looking man darted from a clump of trees and grasped her arm. She screamed for help. The car gong's answering clang diverted the "wild man" from his murderous work. Miss Hannaford was taken in the car to her home, where she still is ill as a result of her frightful experience.

Attacked Two at Once

Mrs. Unkaback and Mrs. Hagerdorn, neighbors of the Hannafords, were attacked an hour afterward by a man of the same appearance almost on the spot. The man seized the first matron's arm, but her companion threw all her strength into a blow full on the murderer's mouth, and he staggered back. Mrs. Unkaback recovered her balance and joined Mrs. Hagerdorn in beating him off. He turned and ran as a trolley car approached.

Killed by a Robber.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—John Kerr, aged forty-two years, watchman for the Pennsylvania Sweep and Smelting company, was killed by a robber while attempting to save a fellow workman from being murdered. David Rikle, engineer for the company, came upon two young men robbing freight cars. He attempted to catch them, when one of the robbers drew a revolver, and just as he pulled the trigger Kerr jumped between the burglar and Rikle. The ball entered Kerr's breast. The robbers escaped.

For the President's Menagerie.

New York, Nov. 8.—Consigned to William Ellis, but intended as a gift to President Roosevelt from King Menelik of Abyssinia, a consignment of miscellaneous animals reached this port in the twin decks of the steamship Minneapolis in the care of Saleb Bin Saleb, a keeper. The hostages consist of a lioness, a zebra, two ostriches and two monkeys.

Three Men Killed In Ohio.

Steubenville, O., Nov. 8.—Three workmen were instantly killed in a buggy used to wrap a wire cable on the new Steubenville suspension bridge. The rope supporting the buggy broke, throwing it against a pier and hurling the men to death on the ground below.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Child's Dress Designed by Martha Dean

In the little princess dress shown here we have an original design that is both quaint and exceedingly childish. A very pretty result is obtained by the use of tucks in sunburst effect in the upper edge of sleeve and skirt. This edge just fits the little round yoke in the back and the princess front, so that the dress is very easily made. There are so few styles for children of this age that any innovation in dress is warmly welcomed. The dress consists of only five pieces, and the little princess front affords a place for a bit of embroidery, although the insertion which outlines the front is really all the trimming necessary. Any material that lends itself to tucks is suitable to the mode. Three yards of material 36 inches wide are required for child of three years. Pattern No. 4530. Sizes, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

Pattern For Lady's Shirt Waist Designed b Martha Dean

A feature in shirt waists distinctly new and developed, no doubt, from the effort to exaggerate the shoulder line is to have the fullness in the sleeve taken up in a box plait which extends up over the shoulder into the collar, or, as shown here, forms a finish for the neck edge. The front of the waist is finished by a box plait, and the sleeve has a pointed cuff. The blouse is worn with separate collar. A practical idea in the finishing is the peplum. This is a circular piece which fits the hips smoothly and holds the waist in position. In these days of heavy shirt waist materials and full skirts such a finishing will be appreciated by all who do not care to add extra width to the hips. In the matter of separate collars a good idea is to have a number of different kinds, and then a new effect is obtained each time the waist is worn. Mercerized goods make the prettiest of these waists for general wear. Pattern No. 6129. Sizes, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Material required for medium size, 4 yards 36 inches wide.

WELLS.

A very pleasant surprise party was given Miss Blanche Dewey, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Dewey, at her home at Gillett on Monday evening of last week. About 30 of Miss Dewey's young friends were present. Sorcery, fortune telling and many other Hallowe'en pranks were played. Miss Della Bryan and Mrs. D. H. Aird very charmingly assumed the role of "witches" and fortune tellers and did their parts remarkably well, keeping their audience in an uproar of laughter. Refreshments were served and piano, other instrumental and vocal music enlivened the occasion.

Dr. Sheldon, a young M. D. from Jackson Summit, has located for practice in the Ed. Ryan block at Gillett.

The fellow who took Hon. R. S. Edmiston's overcoat from the rack at the Wells hotel last Thursday evening was seen and is known, but if he will return the coat to the hotel at once he will be let go unexposed and unpunished. A word to the wise ought to be sufficient.

Mrs. G. W. Ayers is entertaining Miss Sarah Cooper, a dressmaker, from Elmira.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week, when Selah Jennings of Wells, and Miss Rose Hogsboom of Jackson, were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Walker. Only a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. The elegant residence of the bride was prettily decorated; every appointment was of the richest, yet the wedding was a model of simplicity. After the ceremony a bountiful supper was served, and happy congratulations showered upon the young people. Mr. and Mrs. Jennings took a carriage for Elmira, where they boarded the midnight express for New York city. They will visit Boston and many other points of interest before their return. Mr. Jennings is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jennings of Wells, and is a most exemplary young man, a graduate of the Mansfield Normal school, a former school teacher. The fortunate bride is highly esteemed in church and social circles as a highly accomplished and charming young woman. Congratulations are heartily extended from all sides.

A grand Republican rally was held at Mosherville last Thursday evening when Hon. R. S. Edmiston, L. T. Hoyt, Esq., and Hon. E. M. Tuton enlightened a large audience on the issues of the campaign. A horseback parade started at Gillett and marched to Seeley Creek, N. Y., and escorted the speakers who came by train, on their drive to Mosherville. The Odd Fellows hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. The Juvenile band from Millerton played several selections, making a very favorable impression. Prof. D. H. Aird was chosen chairman, and he introduced the speakers in his usual courteous and graceful manner. Hon. R. S. Edmiston was the first speaker, and no praise from our pen could unduly euolgize "Honest Bob's" oration. He was followed by Hon. E. M. Tuton, whose reputation is widely known as a man of many sterling qualifications, as well as a speaker of deep and sensible convictions. He is humorous and spicy, always. L. T. Hoyt, Esq., was then introduced, and if such were possible the old adage about "Best wine comes last," might be applicable here according to the views of many. He gave a fine speech and undoubtedly changed the views of many. A large delegation from Gillette attended the meeting.

HORSE THIEF ABROAD IN BRADFORD COUNTY.

Man Wanted at Romulus, N. Y., Traced as Far as Granville.

The police in this section are on the lookout for a horse thief wanted in New York state. On Sunday night at Romulus, Frank Conway, formerly of Sayre, stole a dark bay horse with a star in its face, out of a pasture field. He also took a harness and wagon, all the property of Charles Kennedy. He left there in company with a woman and soon afterward they were joined by a man named George Davis and his wife who had another horse and carriage. Conway's brother also went with the party.

They stole a sail from a boat and a canvas off a hay stack. Deputy Sheriff H. J. Nuhn of Romulus, Mr. Kennedy and two other men went after the party and traced them to Horseheads where Conway's brother left the party but confessed to the police. From Horseheads the gang were traced to Pennsylvania, near Bentley Creek, in this county. On Wednesday of this week they were lost track of in Granville township.

The horse thief with those with him camped along the way, using the stolen cloth for tents. A pair of wheels broke in Granville and here a pair belonging to a man named Bailey were stolen to take their place. Conway is the man wanted. He is described as being 23 years of age, six feet tall, weighs about 175 pounds. When last seen he wore a slouch hat and a corduroy coat. Ten dollars reward has been offered for his capture. Three of the officers working on the case stayed at Burlington on Wednesday night. Anyone seeing a party answering the description given is requested to telephone Guy C. Hollon, Towanda, Pa., at once.

LEHIGH VALLEY ORDERS.

Smoking and Protection of Property From Damage.

It is announced that yardmaster Gould of the Lehigh Valley railroad, who was located at Packerton, has gone to Hartford, where he has secured a similar position. Mr. Gould, is a young man. His place is taken by an Easton man.

Smoking in the Lehigh Valley railroad buildings, except in the apartments provided for such purpose, is strictly forbidden, according to a new order just issued by M. B. Cutter, general superintendent.

The Lehigh Valley has also issued a number of rules in regard to protecting the company's property from fire. The order states that it is not only required of an employee to guard well the safety of his own particular department, but to exercise a supervision of all the properties that come under his observation.

MAN ON TRACKS.

W. E. Wolcott Found by Boy Who Informed Officer Benedict.

A boy informed Night Policeman W. H. Benedict last evening that there was a man lying on the railroad tracks in the rear of the court house. The officer went to the place indicated and found a well dressed man of about 40 years of age lying dead drunk on the main track of the Lehigh Valley. Had the man not been discovered he undoubtedly would have been killed by the evening passenger train.

The officer took the man to police headquarters and the man gave his name as W. E. Wolcott. Whoever Mr. Wolcott is and whereever he hails from he can thank the boy and Policeman Benedict for saving him from death. Wolcott had a cut over the eye where he had fallen on the rails.

Paralytic Stroke.

Job Morley of Burlington is in a critical condition as the result of a paralytic stroke which he sustained last Saturday morning and the physicians fear for the worst should he sustain a second stroke. When Mr. Morley was called to breakfast Saturday morning he made no response and upon investigation he was found lying upon the floor of his bedroom having sustained a stroke of paralysis. A physician was summoned and it was found that the left side of his face and his entire left side had been affected. He seems to be in a dazed state, not realizing his condition.—Athens News

Foiled Suicidal Attempt.

Dr. C. A. Haines of Sayre foiled what is believed to have been a suicidal attempt when he finally succeeded after four hours' work in saving the life of Roy Jennings of Sayre. Jennings drank a quantity of iodine, and carbolic acid mixed. It is said that he and his wife had been quarreling although Jennings's sister denies this. There has been a veritable epidemic of suicides and attempts at suicide in Sayre of late.

"NOT DEAD, YET."

So Writes Patrick Phelan from San Antonio, Texas.

A letter received at this office from Patrick Phelan of San Antonio, Texas, advises that the report published in this paper recently regarding his death is without any foundation in fact. Pat was always a truthful man when he lived in Towanda over a quarter of century ago, and there is no reason for questioning his veracity in this matter. He writes that he is in excellent health, working at his trade, and has hardly known a sick day since he left Towanda.

How the report became current in Towanda, and so reached the newspapers, is something hard to trace. It is gratifying, indeed, to know that Mr. Phelan is still in the land of the living, and expects "to read The Reporter-Journal for some time yet," as he aptly expresses it.

HAD A LUCKY ESCAPE.

Earl Lent of Orwell, Lost Control of His Bicycle on a Hill.

Earl Lent, the 15 years old son of Bruce Lent of Orwell, met with an accident when returning from school on Wednesday evening of last week and narrowly escaped serious injury. He lost control of his bicycle in going down Matteson hill and was thrown about 20 feet, striking a barbed wire fence.

He was carried home and Dr. Glover dressed his wounds, taking several stitches in a severe cut over one eye. No bones were broken. A deep cut over the hip, which apparently cut an artery, bled profusely and required a compress to check it.

New Mill at Sayre.

C. F. Dyer of Wilkesbarre, has purchased 20 acres of land on the outskirts of Sayre, lying near the Lehigh Valley tracks, and will soon commence the erection of a large feed and flour mill and storage barns. Mr. Dyer intends receiving large shipments of western grain at his new mill, manufacture it into flour and feed and then ship to the terminal points with delivering privileges.

Injured While Hunting.

Fred Hartman, a well-known Lehigh Valley engineer living at Sayre, was shot in the leg while on a gunning trip to Laceyville Monday morning. The party were out after rabbits and one of the hunters got nervous and his aim struck Hartman in the flesh of the leg. The wound bled profusely but it is not thought that it will prove serious.

A Paradise For Horsemen.

Members of the Wilkesbarre automobile club have been refused permission by the owning company to use the boulevards in the Bear Creek region. The price is no object to the company and a toll gate keeper went to the extent of holding up an autoparty with threats to shoot. The matter will be taken into court.

DEATH OF JAMES SHELP.

Passed Away Suddenly at His Home Saturday Evening.

James B. Shelp, proprietor of the Shelp sign factory in Towanda and a well-known citizen, died very suddenly at his home on State street on Saturday evening from an apopleptic stroke. Mr. Shelp complained of not feeling well on Saturday morning. He went home late in the afternoon and neighbors saw him enter the house shortly before supper time. This was the last seen of him alive. About 6:30 Charles H. Wood, one of Mr. Shelp's most intimate friends, went to the house to see how Mr. Shelp was. He was horrified to find him lying motionless on the floor. Neighbors were called and a physician summoned but when the doctor arrived he pronounced Mr. Shelp dead.

Mr. Shelp was the son of David Shelp and was about 48 years of age. He was unmarried. He was engaged in a prosperous business and was a very well-liked man. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. S. M. McClen, of Towanda, Mrs. McNutt of New Bethlehem, and Mrs. Middaugh of Clarion, Pa.

HANNON LICENSE REVOKED.

Court Handed Down Opinion on Saturday Making Rule Absolute.

Judge Fanning on Saturday filed his opinion making absolute the rule granted to show cause why the license of J. M. Hannon for a hotel in New Albany borough should not be revoked, and revoking the same. The proceedings were brought by Constable Campbell of New Albany, it being alleged that liquor was sold to minors and to persons of known intemperate habits.

The case was heard a few weeks ago and created much interest in New Albany and vicinity. Man witnesses were sworn and there was a large attendance of people from that section at the hearings. The order revoking the license became operative at once.

Killed a Deer With a Jack Knife.

Will Stephens, a 17 years old Susquehanna county lad, recently killed a deer with an old rusty pocket knife. He saw the deer in a swamp and crouched down in a quiet corner with a stone in his hand. As the deer passed he hurled the stone and struck the animal, crippling it. The deer tried to escape, but the boy overtook it and struck the beast in the head with another stone. The deer turned at bay and rushed at the boy. The latter dodged and caught the animal by one of its hind legs. Both went down together and rolled over and over in the struggle. Stephens finally managed to get a grip on the deer's neck and with the pocket knife cut its throat.

Fatally Wounded.

W. Brennan of Primrose, Pa., a brother-in-law of T. D. McLaughlin, superintendent of the Connell mines at Bernice, was fatally shot by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of J. H. Duffy of Minersville, who was with Mr. Brennan in hunting party near Bernice on Friday. The gun was accidentally discharged and the load tore away the muscles of the left arm of Mr. Brennan, the shot and wadding tearing into his side. He was removed to the Williamsport hospital for treatment but cannot live.

Medical Society Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bradford County Medical society was held here Tuesday. Dr. M. C. Hunter of Sayre read a highly interesting paper on "Medical versus Surgical Treatment of Appendicitis" and Dr. Charles Reed of Wysox read a paper on "Puritis Ani." Several cases were reported and a gruesome exhibit was a number of specimens of appendices removed from those who have had the fashable ailment.

Bicycle Stolen.

Chief Miller is trying to locate a bicycle which was stolen on Friday night about 7:30 in the evening. The wheel was left standing in front of the bottling works on Chestnut street. It is a Westfield bicycle and was in good condition with the exception of the front wheel which had three spokes broken and small crack in rim. The wheel had a black frame, handle bars nickled plated with cork grips.

Many Improvements.

James Bennett has decided not to move his liquor store to the opera house block and will remain in his present place. The Nobles estate, which owns the building, will put in a new front, with one door at the side, giving a wide glass. The interior will receive new paper and paint and a stairway is being put in to connect with the room above which will be used as a store and bottling-room
